1. Higher education in France

> UNIVERSITIES AND SCHOOLS OF HIGHER EDUCATION

To be accepted into a French university, you must have either the French baccalauréat (the end of secondary school diploma equivalent to British A levels or the American high school diploma), or an equivalent foreign diploma.

There are two types of institutions:
- Universities offer degree programs in all fields (arts, health, human and social sciences, science, technology...)
- Schools of Higher Education: Schools of engineering, Business Schools, Toulouse Higher School of Architecture, National Veterinary School of Toulouse, Engineering School of Purpan.

> ORGANIZATION OF HIGHER EDUCATION PROGRAMS

European countries have adopted a new common system for higher education in order to facilitate the recognition of diplomas and degrees and students’ mobility:
- The “LMD” system: Bachelor’s (3 yrs) , Master’s (5 yrs), PhD (8 yrs);
- A semester-based organization:
  1 year = 2 semesters;
- Degree programs organized into “Unité d’Enseignements” (UE) or teaching units which can be either compulsory or elective. They include lectures, tutorials, internships, dissertations;
- The European Credit Transfer System (ECTS): each UE corresponds to a certain number of ECTS (1 semester = 30 ECTS)

CROUS HALLS OF RESIDENCE:

- French students must apply via the CROUS Student Social file (DSE) between January 14th and April 30th on the CROUS website.
- International students who are holders of a grant either of the French government or of their government must apply with Campus France which is charge of their grants and arrival procedures.
- Other international exchange students (Erasmus or exchange agreements), PhD students or students in a 2nd year of a Master’s Degree must apply with the International Relations Office of their university.

The other students are not entitled to CROUS accommodation. Please note that, as of November each year, the CROUS may have some vacancies in which case they allocate them without any specific requirement. These vacancies are listed on the CROUS website.

LOOKING FOR AN ACCOMMODATION:
Finding accommodation may well be a real challenge and should be undertaken as early as possible; things are easier on the sites of Albi, Auch, Castres, Figeac, Foix, Montauban, Rodez or Tarbes than in Toulouse which counts 100,000 students. Please keep in mind that proof of address is required by many organizations (banks, Préfecture,..) and that some schools have their own halls of residence on their campus.

9. Discovering the university centres of the Midi-Pyrenees region

Situated between the Mediterranean Sea and the Atlantic Ocean, in the heart of Southern France, the Midi-Pyrenees region has long been a major crossroads in Europe and a vibrant cultural and intellectual melting pot.

Some key figures (Insee source March 2013):

Midi-Pyrenees
- 2,882,000 inhabitants
- 103,000 students in Albi, Auch, Cahors, Castres, Figeac, Foix Montauban, Rodez, Tarbes and Toulouse

Toulouse
- 442,000 inhabitants
- 90,000 students
> ALBI

The City boasts many highlights: an impressive Southern Gothic cathedral, a former Archbishop palace overlooking the river Tarn. Albi, listed on the World Heritage, is home to the famous French painter Toulouse-Lautrec whose major works are displayed in a world-known museum. Albi hosts several higher education institutions: J-F. Champollion University, l’École des Mines, the Teachers’ training Institute and UT3 Institute of Technology.

> AUCH

Located in a mid-sized city where accommodation is both easy to find and not very costly, the UT3 Institute of Technology offers very modern and brand new premises. Studying in Auch means making the most of a very pleasant and peaceful campus in a friendly environment.

> CAHORS

Cahors has many tourist assets including a rich cultural heritage and many festivals throughout summer. Since the introduction of the UT2 heritage branch of studies, the higher education and research offer has been increased in collaboration with the IFSI (nursing school), the Lycée des Territoires and the Lycées généraux et technologiques. Student life is pleasant and easy, counselling is available to the students to help them and fulfill their projects (www.cahors-etudiant.blogspot.fr).
CASTRES
The city boasts a traditional know-how in many dynamic sectors of activities: textile, wood, mechanics, pharmacy, cosmetology (Laboratoires Pierre Fabre) and a successful rugby team. In the last few years, Castres has become a valuable higher education centre.

FIGEAC
Located in a tourist area, Figeac Institute of Technology (420 students) is very well known for its pleasant setting (free transport, quality accommodation at low prices) and includes 3 departments: mechanical engineering and product automation (1 DUT and 2 professional Bachelor’s degrees), marketing (1 DUT and 2 professional Bachelor’s degrees) and social careers - major socio-cultural activities (1 DUT).

MONTAUBAN
Montauban, also named “the city of Ingres”, is very well known for one of the major 19th century French painters, Ingres and the sculptor Bourdelle. The city of art and culture hosts students choosing law, economics, education, administrative or applied foreign languages studies.

FOIX
The site hosts students coming from all over France and abroad for studies in tourism, regional development, heritage or education. Thanks to the permanent support of the General Council of Ariege and of the City of Foix, both students and lecturers can enjoy a unique working environment.
RODEZ

Sited less than a two-hour drive from the Mediterranean sea, Rodez offers a pleasant environment to the students who can choose among 4 higher education opportunities: UT1 Capitole Institute of Technology, -F. Champollion University Centre, IFSI and UT 2 Teachers’ Training Institute (IUFM).

TARBES

Thanks to the various training schemes on offer (DUT, BTS, Preparatory course to elite schools, BMD degrees..) Tarbes, ranks 2nd in the Midi-Pyrenees region for the number of students (www.cutp.net).

Halfway between Toulouse and the Atlantic Ocean, close to the Pyrenees mountains and its numerous ski resorts (half an hour drive only), Tarbes is also a major research player.

TOULOUSE

Toulouse, the capital of the region, has been fast growing for many years, both demographically and economically. Today, a genuinely international city, La Ville Rose’, as it is affectionately known, and the Midi-Pyrenees region also boast a particularly rich diverse cultural and artistic heritage. Toulouse counts 82% of the students and most of the research laboratories of the Midi-Pyrenees region.
